THIRTEEN LUCKIEST GIRLS IN THE WORLD MAKE FIRST BOW TO FAME AND FORTUNE

Once again the world is to have a coming out party that is greater than the presentation of a queen. It is the presentation to the world of the 13 queens of the motion picture world for 1927. The girls are the Wampas Baby Stars for 1927. Each year the members of the Wampas, an organization of the motion picture exploitation and publicity men, select 13 of the young women of the film colony who they believe have the greatest opportunity to become stars within the year. The selection is almost priceless to the girls. It is, as nearly as anything can be, a guarantee of screen fame. Out of the 13 girls of a year ago five have since been started. They are Dolores Del Rio, Vera Reynolds, Joan Crawford, Mary Astor, and Sally O'Neill. Each of the others has done well.

This year the 13 baby stars are to be presented at a huge ball at Los Angeles February 17. It is the one opportunity of the year for the public to meet and mingle with the screen famous of Hollywood, for everyone is there to see and applaud the girls that are launched on their pathway to film glory and world fame.

Anniversary of Rotary Founding Observed Here

Local Club Has Special Program on Big Club's Birthday

The twenty-second birthday of Rotary was celebrated by the local Rotary Club this noon. A special program was put on.

Missed Companionship
The Rotary idea, which has spread to every continent on the globe, had its birth in the mind of Paul P. Harris, a Chicago lawyer. Mr. Harris had spent his boyhood in a New England village, and in the whirl of city life missed the comradeship and friendly associations with the business men of his home town. He conceived of a club which should put service above self and bring co-operation and friendship into business relationships. Three of his clients joined with him in its formation.

Four at First Meeting
Today, in contrast with Mr. Harris' little meeting of four men in an office in the Chicago loop, there are 2469 clubs on the globe and there are more than 125,000 Rotarians. They are not merely nominal numbers, either. Election to Rotary carries with it the obligation to attend meetings regularly. Indifference to attendance automatically erases the name of the chronic absentee from the rolls.

One of the unique things in Rotary is the membership scheme, which provides for but one member from each line of business and each profession in a community. This is for the purpose of making the club a cross-section of the community business and professional life.

Message From Paul Harris
At the anniversary celebration meeting messages were read from Paul Harris and from Harry H. Rogers, a San Antonio (Tex.) cot-

Petitions Ready in Sepulveda Blvd. Improvement Move

Petitions asking the Board of Supervisors to start proceedings for the Sepulveda boulevard improvement will be circulated in a few days, according to Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Sepulveda Boulevard Association. The petitions were prepared by the Regional Planning Commission and passed out at a meeting of the boulevard association at Redondo Beach last Friday night.

The proposed boulevard would link this territory with the San Fernando Valley and Long Beach.

WILL STUCCO JAIL
Plans to stucco the city jail to match the new city hall took form Tuesday night when the Board of Trustees instructed City Clerk A. H. Bartlett to advertise for bids for the work.

Vegetable Wagon Slips Off Paving; Horses Drowned

Jim Poston, manager of the Piggly Wiggly store in Torrance, was worried Wednesday morning when the Japanese who hauls carrots, turnips and other vegetables to the local store failed to arrive. When it came noon and no vegetable man had made his appearance Jim attributed it to the flood. Jim was right. It was the flood. The vegetable man's wagon was no ark. It was of the non-floating variety. Over near Compton, the scene of the big deluge, said wagon slipped off the pavement and into a deep ditch beside the road. The wagon sank. It pulled the horses off the road. The two animals were drowned.
